The Los Angeles JavaScript Meetup.

js.la has been cancelled this month

We have chosen to cancel js.la for the following reasons:

Due to public health concerns with COVID-19, we want to reduce the chances of anyone getting infected. This is a decision we as js.la organizers genuinely did not want to make, but for the health, wellness, and safety of all of our amazing and awesome community members (you!), we have made the difficult decision to cancel this month's js.la event.

If you still need your js.la fix, please see our YouTube channel to see all of our previous amazing talks from 2019 and before. We also highly encourage everyone to be active on our Slack Channel where you can chat and interact with our amazing community and organizers .

This descision was not made lightly, and we as a group regret to inform you of the event cancellation. We hope to see you on Slack and we are looking forward to the next js.la event in April!

A cartoon illustration of a yellow dog with black ears and a brown collar. It has large, expressive black eyes with white pupils. Two speech bubbles are positioned above its head, containing the text "This sucks." The background is dark, and there are some abstract shapes and colors to the right.

This sucks.

A screenshot of a video player showing a man in a red shirt smiling. He is positioned on the left side of the frame, with a blurred background. On the right side, there is a large window displaying a code editor with a file named 'index.js'. The code is written in JavaScript and uses several external modules: 'http', 'node-static', 'url', and 'twilio'. It creates a static server for files in the 'public' directory and a HTTP server that listens on port 3000. The server handles requests for '/sms' and '/voice' by creating TwiML responses, while all other requests are served directly from the static files.

1 var http = require('http');
2 , static = require('node-static')
3 , url = require('url')
4 , twilio = require('twilio');
5
6 file = new static.Server('./public');
8 http.createServer(function(request, response) {
9   request.addListener('end', function () {
10     var hash = url.parse(request.url);
11     if (hash.path === '/sms') {
12       var twiml = new twilio.TwimlResponse();
13       twiml.message('Hey, thanks for saying hi. Ping me anytime @Carto');
14       response.writeHead(200, {'content-type': 'text/xml'});
15       response.end(twiml.toString());
16     }
17     else if (hash.path === '/voice') {
18       var twiml = new twilio.TwimlResponse();
19       twiml.
20       response.writeHead(200, {'content-type': 'text/xml'});
21       response.end(twiml.toString());
22     }
23     else {
24       file.serve(request, response);
25     }
26   }).resume();
27 }).listen(3000);

JS.LA - wow!! What can I say, this is just such an amazing meetup with some of the most passionate, kind, & smart developers I've met anywhere in the world.

The organizers 🐐🐐 do such an amazing job, basically as big and well organized as a conference.

A photograph of a networking event in a modern office. In the foreground, a large crowd of people is gathered around tables covered with white cloths, engaged in conversation and eating. The background features a large mural on the wall that reads "MISSION To Help Practices". The ceiling is made of wood and metal, with large industrial-style pipes running across it. A large window on the right side of the room offers a view of the city at night.
